Ben Wilcox
Web Developer and Designer

benjwilcox.com | benjaminwilcox93@gmail.com | (413)-579-7376

Projects

learnVCS
An independent study with two other people with the goal of teaching other people how to use Git. Was responsible for the design of the site and implementing it in Sass/CSS. Developed and gave a presentation on it to a class and gathered data from it.

ADS
An existing PHP application with a team of 4 people that handles student records. Ported code to follow a uniform framework and added features when needed.

Cunneen OLM
An internal ASP web application that allowed the user to keep track of donors for donation campaigns and curate a mailing list. Worked alone with some supervision. Added forms, worked with database, and began porting to ASP.NET.

Work Experience

IGM Lab Assistant
June 2015 - present
Worked with a small team for RIT's Interactive Games and Media Department to develop a PHP web application. Other responsibilities included overseeing the labs and helping students with any problems.

Cathedral Corporation
June 2014 - August 2014
Worked alone, but supervised, on a Classic ASP web application. Was responsible for gathering requirements from client and implementing.

Education

Rochester Institute of Technology
2012-present
Majoring in New Media Interactive Development

Organizations

IGM Ambassadors
2015-present
An organization that represents RIT's Interactive Games and Media program. Members work with students and faculty to organize events on campus and represent the program at tours and open houses.

RIT Honors Program
2012-present
An organization that promotes academic excellence, leadership, and community. Members are expected to maintain a GPA of 3.5 and perform 20 hours of community service a year.